COMMON SENSE: It's better to give than to receive.
UNCOMMON SENSE: It's better to give than to give back.

True generosity involves giving, not just giving back. It means giving with no expectation of repayment. Giving back is a zero-sum equation: We give back what we received and the world is not better off than it was before we received it. True giving means the world is improved by the sum of our giving. It is better off because we are here.

Graduating from

A Message from William V. Day

People who view their stewardship in a role of giving back miss the point. To be significant in our world we must focus on giving, period. Not giving back. Not giving as a payment. Just giving because there is a need we can fill and we want to fill it.

Always give without remembering. Always receive without forgetting. That's a wonderful idea! Giving rewards the giver much more than giving back. The most gratifying reward comes when we give not because we have to. Not because someone asks us to. Not because we owe it. But rather out of our hearts filled with gratitude.

People whose hearts are full of gratitude tend to be more positive, generous, and innovative. They also tend to be easier with whom to get along. And therefore, more successful and influential.

Unconditional giving is like parental living at its best. Good parents don't love their children because the children love them first. They don't "love back" their children. They love their children – period. Even though the children at times may seem unlovable. Just as God loves us!

The good news is that we don't have to give our fortunes to give generously. There are many ways we can give, even though we may be lacking in financial resources. We can give talent, skill, time, or love. We can mentor, coach, advise, guide, or serve someone as a role model. These are all avenues of giving.

Giving back is not, in itself, a bad thing. But when we graduate from giving back to just giving, we arrive at the zenith of true pleasure. Go there and see for yourself!

God bless,
WVD

Brain Health Program Unites Famed Neurosurgeon and St. Barnabas

Dr. Joseph Maroon (center) heads up the "The Cognitive Brain Health Program" team of Jeff Bost, neurosurgical physician assistant, and Karen Tabacchi, Senior Vice President of Clinical Services for St. Barnabas Health System.

World-renowned neurosurgeon Dr. Joseph Maroon has partnered with St. Barnabas Health System to develop a community-based brain health initiative called The Cognitive Brain Health Program.

The goals of this initiative, according to Dr. Maroon, are to provide scientifically-proven methods shown to aid in preserving brain health even as we age and to introduce healthy brain interventions that can last a lifetime.

"We don't have to accept that conditions like dementia and Alzheimer's disease and adult-onset diabetes, always come with aging," said Dr. Maroon.

Coordinating the program at St. Barnabas will be Karen Tabacchi, Senior Vice President for Clinical Services. Dr. Maroon and Jeff Bost, Dr. Maroon's neurosurgical physician assistant, will oversee the program's development.

The initiative will emphasize four major brain health areas:

- changes in diet and the proper use of dietary supplements
- brain specific physical activity
- elimination of environmental pollutants that target the brain
- improved stress management

Dr. Maroon emphasized, "This is a program of empowerment. It's not just about living longer. It's about living better."

ABOUT THE TEAM

Joseph Maroon, MD, FACS is a practicing board-certified neurosurgeon in the Pittsburgh area. He obtained his medical and neurosurgical training at Indiana University, Georgetown university, Oxford University and the University of Vermont. He is regarded as a premier specialist in the surgical treatment of injuries and diseases of the brain and spine using specialized microscopic and minimally invasive techniques. He is team neurosurgeon for the Pittsburgh Steelers and co-developed ImPACT (Immediate Post-Concussion Assessment and Cognitive Testing) currently used by most professional sports teams and more than 12,000 colleges, universities and high schools around the world. He serves as senior vice-president of the American Academy of Anti-Aging Medicine. He is consistently listed in American's Best Doctors and he has an international patient clientele.

Dr. Maroon is a world-recognized health and fitness expert who has competed in eight Ironman triathlete competitions and recently climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro, the highest peak in Africa, while serving as medical advisor for a team of 10 amputees making this historic climb.

He has published more than 270 papers, has written six books and is on numerous editorial boards.

Jeff Bost, PAC is a neurosurgical physician assistant and associate of Dr. Maroon since 1986. Mr. Bost shares Dr. Maroon's passion for brain health and disease prevention and has written and lectured extensively on the use of natural treatments and natural supplements, including fish oil. Dr. Maroon and Jeff Bost co-authored the book, Fish Oil: The Natural Anti-Inflammatory, which is currently in its fourth printing with more than 100,000 copies sold.

Karen Tabacchi, RN, BS is President of Clinical Services and of the St. Barnabas Medical Center for St. Barnabas Health System. Rising from the ranks as a nursing supervisor to a licensed nursing home administrator to an officer of the Health System during her 28-year career, Ms. Tabacchi's clinical knowledge and experience combined with her administrative abilities have ideally suited her to the additional responsibility of the Brain Health Partnership Initiative.

Arbors Resident Begins Second Century of Life!

HOW TO CELEBRATE A 100TH BIRTHDAY!

Move out of your Penn Hills family home of more than 50 years and into a brand-new way of life in 'far off' Gibsonia, PA as a resident of The Arbors at St. Barnabas III.

That's what centenarian Anita Cunimondo did with the blessings of her family. Sharp as a tack, this lovely, gracious woman started a whole new life on her 100th birthday.

Born and raised in East Liberty, she met her late husband, Anthony, when he came to take guitar lessons from her brothers. Mrs. Cunimondo's family was her life… her son, Frank, a well-known jazz musician and educator, and her two daughters, Anita Vestry and Phyllis, now deceased.

One of her proudest moments was when she was honored for 37 years of service to the Senior Citizens Center in Penn Hills.

"I did everything there, office work, kitchen duty, running bingo games, whatever they asked of me, and I loved every minute of it," she explains.

Her son added, "Mom was very active and very independent, did all her own shopping, drove herself – she was an excellent driver – in fact, she still has a valid driver's license."

Then, early in 2014, Mrs. Cunimondo fell in her home, got up out of her chair too quickly to answer the phone. She had hairline pelvic fractures that needed time and therapy to heal. Mrs. Cunimondo received her initial rehabilitation therapy in a Brackenridge, PA facility. Because of her age and the fall, the family felt she could no longer live alone and would need living assistance. That's when she came to live at The Arbors at St. Barnabas III.

According to Barbara Burford, Arbors administrator, Mrs. Cunimondo's recovery has been remarkable. She needs minimum assistance with her ADLs, (Activities of Daily Living) walks well with her walker and is alert and oriented. She wants to do everything herself. When her son tries to pull her up from her chair, she waves him off, places her hands firmly on the arms of the chair and stands straight up, ready to go.

And she loves her Arbors apartment, completely decorated with her own furniture, especially when her grandchildren visit and her son, Frank, takes time from his busy schedule to play the piano for her. In addition to teaching jazz, harmony and improvisation at the University of Pittsburgh, Frank performs regularly at the Omni William Penn in downtown Pittsburgh and at the Narcisi Winery on Route 910 in season. His mother proudly proclaims. "Frank started playing when he was only five years old."

Frank is just as proud of his mother, her spirit and independence. He visits her once a week from his home in Brackenridge, and daughter Anita, who lives nearby in Gibsonia, is there everyday.

When not visiting with her many new friends at The Arbors, Mrs. Cunimondo enjoys word find puzzles. Not bad for a 100-year-young woman, beginning her second century of life.

For many patients, St. Barnabas provides the quality medical care and social environment and spiritual support that they really could not enjoy if it were not for the contributions generous donors make to the St. Barnabas Free Care Fund. Let's honor the spirit and independence of Anita Cunimondo with a gift in her name to St. Barnabas Charities and the many men and women St. Barnabas serves.

Marie Hanna

Marie Hanna with her grandchildren, David, 14 and Lauren, 18,Christmas, 2013.

An 84-year friendship sadly came to an end when Marie Hanna unexpectedly died on Sept. 10, 2014, according to her BFF Aline Powell.

"But what a wonderful friendship they enjoyed for all those years," confided David Hanna, Marie's son.

Aline and Marie grew up in Wilkinsburg, PA, the 'City of Churches,' Aline says. They were just 10 years old when they met. They lived close to each other, went to the same schools, attended football games, swam each Sunday afternoon in the summer at the Eastwood Swimming Pool, and, later, vacationed together.

Marie went on to marry David Hanna, a postal inspector, and they made their home in Penn Hills and had one son, David, and, later, two grandchildren, Lauren and David. Marie worked in a millinery shop in downtown Pittsburgh and was very active in the Crescent Hill Civic Club in Penn Hills. After Marie's husband died in1980, she continued living in Penn Hills. She and Aline, who had moved to Florida, maintained their friendship, visiting back and forth.

During one of Aline's visits up north, Marie had made an appointment to view The Village at St. Barnabas and she asked Aline to accompany her. The Village was close to her son, David and her grandchildren, who lived in Allison Park. Marie made a quick decision and moved into The Village Sept. 30, 2006. Three months later, Aline also moved to The Village. The lifelong friends were together again.

According to David, The Village suited his mother. She played bridge, which she had always enjoyed, did her crossword puzzles, made many new friends and kept her dear friend, Aline.

"Mother was a gentle soul," David said. "Very calm and reserved, and always had a positive, happy attitude. We all miss her."

Marie's many friends and family have remembered her with a gift to St. Barnabas Charities. You, too, can pay tribute to her memory by sending a contribution in her name in the enclosed yellow envelope or you can give online at StBarnabasCharities.com.
